

George Burke Is Reelected Mayor

SALES, MAYOR PRO TEM; BURKE AND ROBERTS SUPERVISORS.

The City Council met last week Thursday afternoon to canvass the result of election and found that George Burke, A. L. Roberts, Frank Sales, Roy O. Milnes and Carl Jensen had been elected members of the city council; Hans Petersen, justice of the peace, and Joseph Denno, constable. With exception of Mr. Denno all are present incumbents.

On Monday night the council convened to form its organization. Following is the result:

Mayor—George Burke.
Mayor pro tem—Frank Sales.
Supervisors—Mayor Burke and A. L. Roberts.

Plans are going forward for the construction of the new municipal electric plant. Approval of the state debt commission has been received and apparently there will be nothing to further delay the project.

MRS. H. W. KUHLMAN SURPRISED

Some twenty friends of Mrs. H. W. Kuhlman gave her a very pleasant surprise Monday afternoon by dropping in to her home to wish her a happy birthday and incidentally to enjoy a cup of tea with her.

Mrs. Kuhlman has been shut in for many months with a foot ailment and the party was a delightful change. She received some very lovely gifts also.

Mrs. C. G. Clippert and Mrs. Harold Jarvin were in charge of the affair. Mrs. Phillip Moran also had a birthday on the same day and it was planned that the two ladies were to celebrate together but Mrs. Moran was ill and unable to attend.

Not-Guilty Pleas Force Jury Summons

Circuit court has been in session since Tuesday afternoon. The following cases have been disposed of:

Lionel McClain, drunk and disorderly, plead guilty. Awaiting sentence.

Wm. Adams, larceny. Stood mute at arraignment and jury had to be called, and trial was called for Wednesday morning. This is the case in which Adams appropriated a car belonging to another and was arrested in Georgia. Sheriff Papendick and Prosecuting Attorney Nellist made the trip to Georgia to bring him back. The jury reported Wednesday morning at which time Adams changed his plea to guilty. The offender certainly has caused the taxpayers of Crawford county a lot of money.

Russell Gotts of Flint, charged with breaking and entering in the night time, also stood mute at the arraignment and plea of not guilty was recorded. He too changed his plea to guilty the following morning. Both Adams and Gotts are now awaiting sentence. The latter already has a prison record.

Judgment was rendered in the case of Remi A. Schotte vs. E. S. Young, assumpsit, for $439.00 and $20.90 costs.

Donald Bicknell, received for the Bank of Saginaw, vs. Jesse R. Benroth, assumpsit. Judgment of $431.19 and $22.10 costs.

Donald Bicknell vs. Edward B. Wickes, assumpsit. Judgment of $57,841.54 and $22.25 costs.

Buhl Sons Co. vs. Annine Sorenson et al, assumpsit. Judgment rendered for $731.45 and $23.30 costs.

Merle F. Nellist vs. City of Grayling, quo warranto proceedings. Case dismissed.

Decrees were granted in the divorce cases of Melvin J. Marshall vs. Edna Marshall, and Louise E. Cobb vs. Charles A. Cobb.

OFFICERS TO LOOK FOR DEAD DEER

According to local conservation officer Otto Failing, officers of the state commission will again visit Grayling next Sunday for the purpose of visiting deer areas to investigate whether any deer had died from starvation during the past winter.

Two weeks ago this group inspected the food condition in the deer areas and found the browse had been heavy and natural food been quite consumed.

The group will start out from Shoppenagons Inn at 10:00 o'clock next Sunday morning. Local people who may be interested in this matter are invited and urged to make the tour of inspection with the officers.

During the period of its most rapid growth, the blue whale, the world's largest animal, increases in weight as much as 150 pounds a day, says Collier's Weekly.

Kiwanis Club Advocates Neutrality

The Kiwanis club, at their meeting Wednesday, adopted a resolution that advocates that this country remain neutral in regard to activities that could lead into war. Royal Wright is chairman of a special committee that drew up the resolution. It is the plan to submit a copy of the resolution to other Kiwanis clubs, also Rotary, Lion and Exchange clubs and to American Legion posts, hoping that it, or a similar one, may be adopted by such organizations. In the absence of the chairman, Rev. Kuhlman, a member of the committee, presented the resolution.

Next Sunday morning members of the Kiwanis club will meet at Shoppenagons Inn for breakfast and later will attend, in a body, church services at Michelson Memorial church. On Wednesday, April 19th, motion pictures and talks about Charlevoix will be shown at the meeting. This program is to be given in the interests of the coming annual state Kiwanis convention to be held in Charlevoix next summer.

Grayling To Have Musical Treat

ALBION COLLEGE BAND TO BE HERE APRIL 26

The Albion College band is coming to Grayling April 26, sponsored by the Grayling High School band. Our high school group is bringing the senior band here for a twofold purpose; first, to raise money for the local organization for the further purchase of equipment greatly needed so that more of the sixty-five members can have an opportunity to play for public performances; second, to show the people of Grayling the type of music played by school bands, and to show what Grayling's band is working toward.

The Albion College band consists of approximately fifty-five members and will show Grayling a well-balanced band. The band is under the direction of Mr. Conway Peters. The visitors will give the public a great variety of music as they play for the Grayling people. They are scheduled to present a full week of concerts in this part of the state as they tour during the week of April 27-28.

Albion College is in the southern part of the state. It is one of the oldest colleges in Michigan, with an enrollment of about 1000 students. Tickets for the concert may be obtained from any of the sixty-five members of the Grayling band. These boys and girls are now calling house to house to tell the people of this need for a good turnout.

To the Citizens of Grayling:

The Common Council of your city extends to you sincere appreciation for your support in the recent election on the Municipal Light Plant proposition. We are convinced that the acquisition of such a plant will mean a great forward step in the progress of Grayling. We know that without your support, we alone could not have been successful.

We are also deeply grateful for your support in helping to dispose of the suit started against us. We hold no ill-will against any who opposed us. We believe that every citizen has the right to express his approval or disapproval on any matter connected with the welfare of the city and its people.

We want especially to thank those of our citizens who gave so freely of their time and effort in organizing support for our position. These men and women deserve the thanks of the whole community.

The plant remains to be built and we intend to proceed as rapidly as possible. Let us all forget any personal bitterness that may have resulted from the election and let us all pull together for success in this project and success will be ours.

Council of the City of Grayling.

Attend Standard Oil Dealers Meeting

The standard oil dealers and distributors in this part of the state attended a demonstration meeting in West Branch Tuesday night. Those from Grayling were Dan and Ernest Hoesli, local distributors; Carl Parsons, Fred Lamm, local dealers, and O. P. Schumann who went along as a guest.

This being the 50th anniversary of the Standard Oil Co., of Indiana, special observance will be paid the occasion throughout the entire country. All the Company's advertising will connect up with the anniversary. Every station will display an attractive Golden Jubilee sign.

Demonstrations and motion pictures presented most inspirational plans that may be used by distributors and dealers. Extensive newspapers and magazines will carry Standard Oil products all over the entire country. Again clean rest rooms and service, courtesy and fair dealing were emphasized and essential to service station successes.

Fifty years in the production and distribution of oil products has given this Company an experience that is valuable to themselves and to the consuming public as well. They have been leaders in the production of oil products and leaders in their improvements.

Red Crown gasoline is uniform wherever it may be purchased and motorists have learned to depend upon it—they are taking no chances by using Standard Oil products.

Camp Higgins To Hold Open House

Camp Higgins Lake will act as hosts to the general public on the afternoon of Sunday, April 16. Sunday is "Open House" as far as the camp is concerned and the supervisory and enrolled personnel sincerely hope that the citizens in Roscommon and Grayling and vicinity will take this opportunity to visit the camp and work projects. There are no doubt many residents of the towns in this area who have never been in a CCC camp, and Sunday will be a good opportunity to inspect the camp under supervised guides.

The following program will take place on this occasion:

1:30-3:00—Inspection of the camp and the work projects.

3:00-3:30—Demonstration by the Grayling Drum and Bugle corps.

3:30-4:30—Short talks by the Commanding Officer, Project Superintendent, Educational Adviser, two enrollees and one outside speaker, H. J. Rigerink, State CCC Selecting Agent, is expected to be present and give the main address. A representative from the MECW headquarters may be present and give a talk on present day methods of fire-fighting and various equipment used.

4:30—Formal Retreat Formation by the entire company.

Big Company Dance
A big company dance will be held in the mess hall beginning at 8:00 p. m. The general public will be invited and refreshments will be served at 11:00 p. m. There is no admission charge to the dance.

Public Invited To Visit Camp AuSable

Open house will be held the week-end of April 15 by V-1670th Company CCC, Camp AuSable, which is 17 miles east of Grayling. This camp is now occupied by veterans who were formerly at Camp Presque Isle at Atlanta.

An invitation has been extended by the officers and technical service personnel at the camp to all residents of Grayling and nearby communities to inspect the camp and the work projects on Saturday and Sunday. There will be no special program during this time, as it is planned later in the year to have a series of "open house" gatherings at the camp.

The invitation this week-end is issued in observance of the sixth anniversary of the CCC.

MISS ELIZABETH KRAUS HONORED WITH SHOWER

Mrs. Fred Welsh, Miss Gail Welsh, Mrs. Holger Schmidt, and Mrs. T. P. Peterson were hostesses at a lovely linen shower at the Welsh home Thursday evening, complimenting Miss Elizabeth Kraus, who will become the bride of Porter McCall of Detroit, April 20.

Some twenty ladies hemmed gaily colored towels and dust cloths during the evening for the guest of honor. A dainty and very delicious buffet lunch was served from a table covered with a beautiful snow white cloth, and centered with a bowl of white spring flowers. After lunch Miss Kraus opened her many prettily tied gifts.

HANSON CAFE TEAM FINISHED SEASON AT CHEBOYGAN

The Hanson Cafe team finished the season at the Cheboygan tournament. They were defeated by East Jordan in the finals in Class A, one of the best teams in the north. Hanson Cafe team also came in second place in other tournaments.

A bad start at the beginning of the season slowed the boys up, but the team reorganized and got itself some games and the season ended very successfully.

The team wishes to thank its sponsor, Mr. Frank Bennett, for his fine cooperation.

Jerome-Spence Marriage

MR. AND MRS. JEROME ON WEDDING TRIP IN WEST

(From Detroit News)
Pink snapdragons and carnations in baskets arranged among palms and ferns on the altar in the First Presbyterian Church, in Pontiac, formed the background for the wedding of Virginia Spence, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Spence, and Benjamin Jerome, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Jerome, Saturday evening. The Rev. William H. Marbach performed the ceremony before 250 relatives and friends.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore pearl pink satin fashioned on regal lines with a sweetheart neckline, Vionnet twisted bodice, and long sleeves, full at the shoulders and tapering into points over the hands.

Her veil of pink illusion fell from a Princess Eugenie cap and extended beyond her full court train. Pink orchids and hyanthins formed her shower bouquet.

Mrs. Donald Ballman, of Midland, Mich., sister of the bridegroom, was matron of honor. She wore a model of net and Alencon lace in a slightly deeper shade pink than the bride's gown.

Carolyn Heitsch, Betty Jane Kinsey, Bernadette Thieffels and Mrs. Sidney Teague were bridesmaids. They wore deep pink and fuchsia fashioned, on the same lines as Mrs. Ballman's, with short puffed sleeves, full bouffant skirts, draped bodices and basque waists.

Each wore a halo bonnet of shirred net and lace to match her gown. Colonial bouquets of Virginia carnations and violets completed the outfits.

Arnold Jerome was his brother's best man. John Donaldson, Mr. Ballman and Edward Mason and Vinton Staley, of Marshall, Mich., were ushers.

A French Victorian flower print in rose and lilac shades was Mrs. Spence's choice for her daughter's wedding. Hybrid orchids formed her corsage.

Mrs. Jerome, the bridegroom's mother, wore deep cream and silver brocade silk. A small velvet turban was in shades of green. Her corsage was of hybrid orchids.

Following the ceremony, the bride's parents gave a reception for 200 guests at Devon Gables, where pink flowers were used in decoration.

The young couple left for a trip through California. For going-away, the bride wore a beige suit made with a full box coat with a beige fox collar, a natural milan straw trimmed in black, and black accessories.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Margery D. Neff, of Atlantic City; Mr. and Mrs. J. Warren Neff, of Philadelphia; Capt. Russell E. Bates, of Logan, Utah, and Mr. and Mrs. Leigh Bonibar, of Richmond, Va.

Kalkaska Festival To Be Gala Affair

GRAYLING GIRLS COMPETE FOR QUEENSHIP

The annual trout festival, that is scheduled for April 28 and 29, promises to be a gala affair. Just about every event compatible with such an event has been planned for the pleasure of the guests.

Misses Frances Entsminger and Margaret Buck are competing for votes in the community choice of a Grayling Trout Queen. The winner will represent Grayling at the Kalkaska festival, and there compete with other community queens for Kalkaska's 1940 festival queen. Mayor John Bingham of Alpena already has been selected for trout king, this choice promises to meet the approval of just about everyone.

There will be parades, queen's ball, and coronation and scores of interesting events. There won't be a dull moment from the opening event to the final close late Saturday night. Grayling American Legion Post Drum and Bugle corps will take part in the big parade at 10:00 p. m. Friday, April 28th. The Fisherman-Press banquet will be held at Hotel Kalkaska that same evening. $800 will be spent in prizes.

Plan on taking in this gala event. You are assured a good time every moment.

THURSDAY, APRIL 13, 1939

IN September of last year the Grayling High School organized its first band. At the first meeting of the group it was found that less than a half dozen students could step into the harness and play music designed for school bands.

The administration of the school was very cooperative in offering Mr. Rowland the time needed to develop a musical group well worthy of praise.
With practically no instruments available, four small groups were formed and as a result the first High school band made its first public appearance at the first basketball game, on December 9, 1938, less than ten weeks after the band got under way.

Although this first appearance showed to the public thirty instrumentalists, there were about the same number of disappointed musicians who had to be left out because of lack of instruments.
The band made several more appearances during the basketball season, taking one trip to play for the Grayling-Gaylord game at the latter city.

At the beginning of the second semester enough interest was shown in the band to have a fifth beginning group start from scratch on all the instruments available. This time twenty interested students enrolled in the band. Only one student owning her own instrument.

If it were possible for all students now enrolled in the band to have an instrument for his own use Grayling High School could present to the public a band of sixty-five musicians.

The band is starting out on a campaign to raise money so equipment needed can be obtained.

In the past Grayling has been able to boast a good city band—with your interest in the school band, this boast can be repeated.
The band needs your help.

OUR QUESTIONS ARE ANSWERED

Every Michigan citizen was intensely interested in the change of governorship which occurred nearly a month ago. It wasn't mere curiosity which prompted thousands of questions as, "What will happen now?" or "What will Gov. Dickinson do?" Those questions were founded on genuine interest in state affairs.

To the trained observer there was little cause for alarm. To those who have watched carefully events of the past three weeks this also becomes evident.

Michigan, it seems, has been singularly honored. In the Governor's chair at Lansing is a man unparalleled in governmental and political annals. Gov. Dickinson is the idealist's dream of what a public official should be.
People of state may not realize it now, or while he is in office but eventually they will understand that for once in their state's history, a FREE man was their leader.

No political machine, no selfish interest, no passing fancy will harry the judgment of Gov. Dickinson. Gifted with long years of careful, intelligent observation in state affairs, he knows that speed and rash action has no place in a state's administration.

His principles express the exact opposite of New Deal fanaticism.
Guided only by God and his own conscience, he has a stern but balanced sense of right and wrong. Like the late Gov. Fitzgerald, he is a man of the people, and shall always remain that way, regardless of exterior circumstances.

We must express our wonder-ment and gratification for the wise and dignified manner in which he took over the leader's baton. Plunged without warning into a maze of administrative duties, he kept his purpose and clear judgment at all times.

It is heartening to believe that Gov. Dickinson will follow the course of his predecessor. But it is particularly significant to realize that his actions are based on a higher sense of duty and that his judgment will not be warped by the unhealthy contact of decaying partisanship.—Michigan Men and Affairs.

GRAYLING PARK SECOND IN ATTENDANCE

Total number of persons using state parks for winter sports reached 45,875 during the month of January, according to W. J.
Kingscott, chief of the parks division of the Michigan department of conservation.

This figure, Kingscott pointed out, represents an increase of nearly 7,000 over the figure for January, 1938, when 39,060 persons used parks for winter sports.

Leading all parks in total attendance was Bloomer Park No.
2, a 47-acre park in Oakland county, one mile east of Rochester. High banks leading down to the valley of the Clinton river make it especially suited for sking, tobogganing and coasting.

Second among the parks was Grayling with an attendance of 6,730. Wilson reported 4,450;
Ludington, 4,307; Dodge No. 4, 4,160; Bloomer No. 3, 3,120, and Dodge No. 10, 2,370.

ADVERTISING MAXIM

Some thirty years or more ago
John Wanamaker wrote the following: "If there is one enterprise on earth that a 'quitter' should leave severely alone it is advertising. To make a success of advertising one must be prepared to stick like a barnacle on a boat's bottom. He should know before he begins it that he must spend money—lots of it. Somebody must tell him that he cannot hope to reap results commensurate with his expenditure early in the game. . . . Advertising does not jerk; it pulls. It begins very gently at first, but the pull is steady. It increases day by day and year by year until it exerts an irresistible power."

Plant Called Colt's Foot
The galax aphylla is commonly known as colt's foot because the shape of the leaf resembles the imprint of a colt's hoof. Galax is a beautiful evergreen which thrives in the Alleghany ranges, being especially abundant in North Carolina.

IT WAS THE LAST

There had been an explosion in a powder mill. The proprietor was telegraphed for. He hurried to investigate the cause. "How did it all happen?" he asked the foreman breathlessly. "Who was to blame?" "Well, you see, sir," replied the foreman, "it was this way: Jake went into the mixing room, probably thinking of something else, and struck a match in mistake." "Struck a match!" interrupted the proprietor in dismay. "I should have thought that would have been the last thing on earth he would do!" "It was, sir," the foreman replied calmly.

He's It

Teacher had had a little trouble getting the boys in her class to run her errands, so she thought she'd shame them. "I've got an easy job—for the laziest boy in the class," she said. "Please step forward."

All but one boy stepped forward. "Well, Willie," commented teacher, smiling, "why didn't you step up, too?" Willie leaned back in his seat. "Too much trouble," he said.—Washington Post.

Explained

Macpherson called at the laundry for his parcel.

"That will be three shillings," the laundress told him.

"But there are only two pairs of pajamas," Macpherson complained, "and you charge one shilling a pair, don't you?"

"That's right, sir," the laundress replied, "but the extra shilling is for the collars and socks you had in the pockets."—Stray Stories Magazine.

Right on the Spot

"That was some blonde I saw you meet last night. Where did you meet her?" "I dunno. I just opened my wallet and there she was."

Word of Encouragement

"I hear that you undertook to chastise that precious youngster of yours."

"Yes," answered the brave parent, "and I got a little respect out of him."

"How do you know?" "He told me if I would go to the gym and train a little he thought he could make a hard hitter of me."

Mongol Rule Established In China by Kubla Khan

The Mongol rule was established in China in 1279 by the conqueror, Kubla Khan, and held power for nearly a century, when it was overthrown by a popular revolution. The Ming dynasty followed for nearly 300 years, or, un'til 1644, when the Manchu dynasty began.

Christianity had been introduced during the Ming dynasty, and with this circumstance, together with the admission of Russian traders which occurred in 1653, under the rule of the first king of the Manchu dynasty, the modern history of China may be said to have begun. From this point may be dated the first acquaintance of the outside world with China, although it took almost another two centuries for western ideas to penetrate very deeply.

The Imperial form of government, meanwhile, did not adapt itself to modern conditions, and a rising liberal spirit resulted in 1911 in the overthrow of the Manchu dynasty and the establishment of a republic.

The Chinese are a mixed race. From "Myths of China and Japan," by Donald A. Mackenzie, the following is taken: "In the north the oblique-eyed, yellow-skinned element predominates. Like the Semites, who overran Sumeria and adopted Sumerian modes of thought and life, so did the Mongoloid tribes overrun northern China and became a sedentary people. Petty kingdoms grew up, and in time found it necessary to unite against the hordes who invaded and plundered their lands. The invaders included Siberian nomads, Manchus, Mongol-Turki peoples, the Sacaes (western Scythians), and the blue-eyed Usuns or Wusuns, who are believed to have been congeners of the kurgan-builders of southern Siberia and southern Russia."

Early Mouth Pipe Organ

Invented by the Chinese. A small Chinese musical instrument, in which bamboo tubes are used for pipes, played with the mouth, was the ancestor of the huge pipe organ, it is indicated by exhibits at the Field museum.

The mouth pipe organ or "sheng" as the Chinese call it, consists of a bowl-shaped body of lacquered wood at the end of a tube with a mouth-piece. It resembles a large meerschaum pipe as well as a saxophone. Seventeen bamboo tubes of varying lengths are inserted in the top of the body, which provides the wind reservoir.

Thirteen of the tubes are fitted with free reeds, similar to those used in some organs. Each of the tubes has a small hole just above the point where it enters the reservoir, and these holes must be covered with the finger in order that each pipe may produce its particular tone when the player blows into the instrument.

While the sheng is used in China to a limited extent, it is rarely heard because of a peculiar superstition that a skilled performer becomes so wedded to his music that he is forever playing, to the exclusion of all other activities, according to a curator of Chinese archeology and ethnology.

Swordfish Can Defeat Shark

Since swordfish have no teeth they swallow everything whole. In case they make a mistake and eat something that disagrees, nature has provided a neat arrangement for getting rid of it. As a matter of fact swordfish are noted for being able to empty their stomachs at will. Consequently, swordfish are naturally among the cleanest fishes known. Curiously enough, a swordfish sword is not a sword at all, but simply a bony extension of its upper jaw. With his great strength, terrific speed and mighty sword (which is fully one-third the length of his body), the swordfish is the only one that can defeat a shark in a fair fight. Groups of them have occasionally attacked and killed the largest living mammal of all time—the whale.

Shark Liver Yields Oil

The shark has an enormous liver, which yields large quantities of oil. The liver of one 13-foot tiger shark weighed 200 pounds; it measured about seven feet, and yielded no less than 18 gallons of oil. The oil is used to curry leather, to temper steel and for soap making. It is also, when extracted from fresh livers, useful medicinally. The flesh of the shark is cut into strips, soaked in brine, and then dehydrated. It is greatly valued as food in the Malay states. When dried it is a dullish red-brown, a ton of shark yielding about 180 pounds of meat. The meat, the bones and the offal, dried and ground, make poultry food and fertilizer.

Montreal Founded in 1642

The site of Montreal was first visited by Cartier in 1535, then by Champlain in 1611, but the city was founded by Maisonneuve in May, 1642. Its name is derived from the royal mountain, "Mount Royal," immediately behind it. The Island of Montreal, on which the city is built, is 32 miles long and 10 miles wide at the broadest part. The largest city of Canada, Montreal is its banking center and the headquarters of the two great railway systems. It is the greatest grain exporting port on this continent. The McGill university and Montreal university are located there.

Buildings Sing, Speak

The French writer Valery has one character ask another, in one of his books, if he has not noticed "in walking about the city that among the buildings with which it is peopled certain are mute, others 'speak' and others—and they are the most rare—sing?"

Lansing—To tax or not to tax, that is the question.

Once again an administration at Lansing is confronted with the very distasteful prospect of imposing additional taxes. If the estimated $25,000,000 deficit for the current fiscal year is to be reduced and it expenses and receipts of the forthcoming fiscal year are to be balanced, the state administration must obtain more money from one source or another.

And there's the rub—who is going to pay the Piper?

State Treasurer Muir Dunckel believes that the sales tax should be increased from 3 to 4 cents. The revenue from the additional cent would be segregated for the sole purpose of paying off the $25,000,000 deficit. Treasurer Dunckel would have it tagged the "Murphy tax."

Brown Opposes New Taxes

Auditor General Vernon J. Brown offers a seven-point budget balancing program to solve the state's financial problem without creating another levy or increasing an existing tax.

1. Abolish payroll increases ordered by the civil service commission and thus save "at least" $1,000,000 a year.

2. Abolish most commissions, boards and bureaus created by 1937 legislature, thus saving "more than" $1,000,000 a year.

3. Revise formula for distribution of state aid to public schools to equalize districts that raise no school taxes locally and other districts which get more than they need, thus saving $13,000,000 a year. School aid this year was $28,000,000.

4. Revise property tax law and tax intangible property at a special low rate. Intangible property is now taxable at the same rate with real estate property, the rate being higher than the yield and hence not being enforced. The 1937 state tax commission started a movement to enforce the intangible property tax, but Governor Murphy called it off.

5. Plug sales tax loopholes, thus collecting "several millions."

McCallum's Tax Plan

Senator George McCallum, taxation committee chairman, has introduced a bill requiring the state tax commission to assess personal property at either of the following rates: 5 per cent of the annual income derived from stocks, bonds, etc., or one quarter of 1 per cent of the par value, whichever is the greater.

The present personal-property tax (now unenforced) averages 2.7 per cent of the par value, or 19 times as much as the McCallum proposal.

Exemptions: Government bonds, armory bonds, possessions of benevolent institutions, G.A.R. and Y.M.C.A. and similar groups, banks and trust companies, and insurance companies and utilities that now pay a specific tax.

Hope on Sales Tax

The auditor general is confident that efficient enforcement of the state sales tax, together with certain changes contemplated to aid collection, would result in many millions more for the state treasury.

Senate bill 114 by Senator George McCallum of Ann Arbor, chairman of the senate taxation committee, would require auto dealers of new and old cars to pay sales tax to secretary of state at time of registration or transfer.

This bill is expected to net approximately $5,000,000 more annually in sales tax collections. (Point in Brown's program): "Adopt a sane and sensible welfare plan."

7. Strict economy by the administration to the end that there is "severe pruning of every item of public expense."

State-Owned Autos

For many political moons an unwritten law has permitted state officials and employees to obtain and to use at public expense, expensive cars for personal as well as business purposes.

Representative Arthur U. Odell of Allegan and six other members of the house have just introduced a bill to curtail the car-buying practice by requiring approval of a state emergency appropriation commission before a car could be purchased.

A check-up revealed there are 633 state-owned machines, of which 116 are 1939 models.

The late Governor Frank Fitzgerald always declined to use a state-owned automobile for official business. He provided his own car and charged mileage expense. Furthermore, he had an Eaton county license plate, Luxurious machines, used by former Governor Murphy and George Gundry, now repose unused in the state garage.

Governor Dickinson has been provided transportation to and from the capitol and his home near Charlotte by state police.

To Extend Payroll Tax?

A last minute attempt will be made in the Michigan legislature to extend the unemployment compensation tax to all employers.

The present act exempts "small employers"—those who hire less than eight workers.

This year the social security taxes include an employer levy of 3 percent to support a system of unemployment insurance and a levy of 2 per cent, divided equally between employer and worker, to support a system of old-age insurance. Next year the old-age insurance tax will go up one cent, borne one-half by the employer and one-half by the worker.

David Lawrence, Washington observer, points out that the 1939 payroll tax total will equal the entire amount paid by corporations in income taxes during the prosperity year of 1929, and that this cut into purchasing power will be in addition to a corporate income tax that is almost as high as in 1929.

The plight of the small business man, already badly tax-harassed, will receive careful consideration at Lansing. We forecast that the Dickinson administration will not lend encouragement to further extension of the payroll tax.

Liquor Jitters

Liquor interests are slowly recovering from a bad case of jitters.

Because Governor Dickinson is an ardent drinker in his personal life, many retailers and vendors of alcoholic beverages jumped to a hasty conclusion that Dickinson would try to return prohibition to Michigan.

The governor, president of the Michigan Anti-Saloon league, has let it be known that it was his duty as governor to carry out the will of the people to the best of his ability—in other words, to permit sale of liquor under rigid control.

"Control," however, may be tightened up to require midnight closing for roadhouses outside of municipalities, enforce the prohibition of sale of liquor to minors, and perhaps to ban Sunday liquor sales.

Mass production methods in industrial centers complicate the liquor enforcement picture somewhat. A worker whose "day" begins at 4 p. m. and ends at midnight usually abstains from taking a drink prior to going to work. When he finishes work at midnight, he is often in a mood for "relaxation"—a glass of beer or so.

Muri DeFoe of Charlotte, "personal representative" of Governor Dickinson on the state liquor commission, formerly was convinced that the state store system was wrong and that the state should get out of the "liquor business." Today, looking from the inside out, he finds that he has changed his mind—that state monopoly is the only sure way to effect decent control.

Democrats' Policy

Democratic leaders at Lansing have adopted the Republican policy which has prevailed at Washington: Lay low, wait for opposition to make mistakes, and then capitalize on the issues.

Spokesmen in the Senate and House have already indicated that some of the 1940 issues may be the following:

Labor—A "Cossack" labor relations law, clamping severe restrictions upon workers and employers who are not covered by the Wagner act for interstate commerce would provide Democrats with welcome campaign material. Civil Service—Effort will be made to show that the legislature has virtually "annihilated" civil service in its insistence that many workers should be exempt and that less money should be spent in administering the act. (Bill has passed the House).

Will the conservative pendulum swing too far to the right? Democratic leaders are secretly hopeful that it will. The old game of politics is still being played.

Origin of Word Jeopardy

The word jeopardy is from the French ju (later jeu) and parti, even game. The word was originally used in connection with a problem in chess or a stage in any other game at which the chances of success or failure were evenly divided between the players.

First Authentic Record Of Any Gem Is the Pearl

Since the earliest days of history the pearl has been worshiped for its rare beauty. In the Book of Job and in the Talmud pearls are mentioned, and at the height of Rome's power the exquisite gems were in great demand by the loveliest women of the empire. While records concerning the pearl date back for more than 3,000 years and it is quite certain that the pearl was known before then, the first authentic record of any gem is that of the pearl.

Various legends surround the story of the pearl and one of the oldest is the belief that the gem originates when a drop of dew falls into the shell. Other stories say that the tears of the gods and of angels change into pearls as they fall toward the earth. This was probably the source of the legend that the pearl brings tears, which is entirely wrong, as the old story meant that the tears of the gods were changed into gifts for mortal men, according to a writer in the Montreal Herald.

The more layers there are to a pearl, which is not a mineral but composed of carbonate of lime, the finer the sheen or "orient" of the gem, and it depends a good deal on the purity of the water from which the pearl comes. Salt water pearls are generally called "orientals" and are found to be white, with a touch of yellow; the Tahiti, which is a grade of white pearl with a slight amount of sheen; Venezuela, very white or very yellow, more transparent than the usual run of orientals; and the Australia, a very white pearl with almost no sheen.

Some Fish Squeal, Grunt.

Sob, Howl; Others Climb

"Dumb as a fish" does not apply to all fishes, asserts a writer in London, Tit-Bits Magazine. The red gurnard, so common on the coast of Devonshire, positively squeals when it is taken out of the water. The fisher-folk call it the cuckoo-fish. In the Gulf of Mexico lives a fish known as the Grunt or Drum. When he is hooked he sobs pitifully; and the human angler who is so far moved by these lamentations as to put him back into the water is rewarded with a squeak that is an unmistakable "thank you!" The Malgrec, which may be caught along the whole eastern coast of the New World, enjoys the distinction of being the noisiest fish in existence. He makes a loud moaning sound, and croaks like a frog. His howls can be heard on shore when he is five-and-twenty fathoms below the surface of the sea.

The climbing perch of Java and Southern India has the further parrot-character of being able to climb. His name Panaira means, in the native Tamil, tree-climber; scientists call him Anabas, which is Greek for "going up." In ordinary times these fishes live in rivers and ponds of fresh water. In times of drouth they crawl from the river-bed, making their way over the dry ground by means of their rough scales and fins, even scrambling up the trunks of trees in search of food.

Inventors of Photography

There have been numerous inventors of photographic processes. J. H. Schultz, in 1727, made the first photographic copy of writing. In 1802, Thomas Wedgwood copied pictures by the action of light. Joseph N. Niepce produced the first permanent pictures, in 1814. Louis J. M. Niepce, in 1827, made public the details of his daguerreotype process of sensitizing a silver plate with iodine and developing with vapors of mercury the image produced on exposure. Niepce's photographs were made on tin, coated with bitumen of Judea; this bitumen, which is soluble in essence of lavender, becomes insoluble when exposed to light. After 14 years of experimenting he was able to fix permanently the image of the camera on tin. For some years before his death Niepce was in partnership with Daguerre, and later his son Isidore joined Daguerre in his work.

Meaning of Name Blanche

The name Blanche, of Teutonic-Latin origin, while not entirely inappropriate for a very white-skinned brunette, should as a rule be given only to blonde girls, for it means "white, or fair." It is a beautiful name, suggestive of refinement and daintiness, according to a writer in the Cleveland Plain Dealer. Blanche of Castile (1187-1252), daughter of a king of Castile and granddaughter of a king of England, married Louis VIII of France and was regent after his death. She also acted as regent later while her son, Louis IX, was away on a crusade. She was a strong ruler, curbing revolts and limiting encroaching powers of the church.

The Magnetic Poles

The action of the compass needle is accounted for by considering the earth as a huge magnet, with one of its poles, the North magnetic pole, not very far from the North pole and the other, the South magnetic pole, not far from the South pole. The North magnetic pole attracts the north-seeking pole of the compass, which is magnetized. One explanation given for the earth's magnetism is that this is due to electrical currents caused by daily heating of the earth's surface.

Expedition Discovers Huge Waterfall

A waterfall 1,200 feet high was discovered on the Uitsi river in British Guiana by Dr. Paul A. Zahl, research associate in the Haskins laboratory of Union college, during his recent expedition to bring back alive the world's largest ants from the region near Conan Doyle's "lost world." These falls, provisionally named after George VI of Great Britain, have a sheer rock drop and are about 250 feet wide at the brink during the dry season. For sheer drop, size and beauty it topped even the world famous Kaletner falls, which is only five times the height of Niagara falls.

Ants Have Six Legs
Ants have six legs, jointed in two places, and two feelers, or antennae. On the end of these feelers are the ants' noses. The ants have two large eyes on the sides of their heads and three smaller ones on their foreheads with which they can see in the dark. Their ears are in their heads and in the shins of their legs.

Dated this 6th day of April, A. D. 1939.

No one will be disappointed by attending the illustrated talk given by Dr. Elzada Clover on "The Colorado River Expedition" at the high school auditorium Friday evening, April 14th at 8 o'clock. This exceptionally fine opportunity is given to the Grayling public free of charge. The affair is sponsored by the Woman's Club.

Mr. Woods leaves to mourn his death a step-daughter, Mrs. Blanche Cressey, of Detroit.

John Ward did a good job of painting of the front office of the Avalanche. It is in white gloss and looks fine. But the biggest revelation is the job done by Jimmie Miller in which he turned the dusky walls of the work rooms into bright shiny aluminum. Aluminum paint was applied to the ceiling as well and the interior looks like bright metal. It's going to take us a few more days to get settled and then callers will be welcome.

The weather doesn't seem to be able to decide whether to remain warm or cold. The past week has been very changeable, with snow and cold the latter part of last week and sunshine on Easter Sunday. Monday it looked as though Spring had really come until Tuesday morning when it turned much colder and with snow flurries. Wednesday we had a real snowstorm and ice on the highways. Today the sun is shining and the snow melting. We wonder what tomorrow will bring?

With winter hanging on so late, it is hard to realize that spring is so far advanced. The ice and snow is about gone and a clean-up campaign should soon be underway. Let's keep that in mind and get after the accumulations of winter dirt.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ernest Bingham of Somerset Centre, Michigan, announce the marriage of their daughter Virginia Strong to Richard Edwin Stephens of Detroit, son of Mrs. John Stephens, on Saturday, April 8th. It was followed by an informal reception in the church parlors from which Mr. and Mrs. Stephens left by motor for the East. They will be at home after April 17th at 51 Holbrook Avenue, Detroit. The Bingham were former residents of Grayling.

Excavating is about complete for Esbern Olson's new store building on the corner of Michigan and Peninsula avenues. This location was the one occupied by the late C. W. Olson, the building having been destroyed by fire. The new building will be about 24 x 60 feet in size and will be of light colored brick. It will be one story high with basement. It is being constructed by V. S. Smith of Gaylord, who says he will have it finished and ready for occupancy about June 1st. The adjoining store building, that is now occupied by the Olson Shoe store, will remain the same for the present, at least until the new structure is finished.

The regular meeting of the Ladies Aid society of Michelson Memorial church will be postponed from April 7 to April 14, and will be held at the home of Mrs. O. P. Schumann. Mrs. A. J. Joseph will assist Mrs. Schumann. 3-30-2

TWO BIG "MUSKIES" IN ONE DAY

Everyone's heard about the big one that got away. But even more difficult to believe than that old yarn is this new one about the two that didn't get away.

The story should be of especial interest to the many fishermen who have gone a lifetime wanting but never knowing the thrill of hauling in a muskellunge, Michigan's largest game fish. Arthur Martin of Moran has had that experience twice this winter and all in a period of 15 minutes.

Mr. Martin was spearing on Brevort lake near St. Ignace when he pulled in the first musky. It was a nice one, later proving to weight 27½ pounds, with a length of 47 inches. But Mr. Martin was still in the fever of joy when a second musky floated into range. His aim was accurate and the spear found its mark. And this one was more than 12 pounds heavier and five inches longer than the first. To be exact, it weighed 39½ pounds and was 52 inches long.

Several muskies have been taken out of Brevort lake during the spearing season, a few weighing close to 40 pounds, according to Conservation Officer Ray Walker. Brevort is the only lake in this vicinity known to be inhabited by muskellunge, although it is found in four other upper peninsula lakes and in 19 in the lower peninsula.

The muskellunge is not only Michigan's largest game fish but it also is believed to be the most voracious of all fresh water species. It has an enormous appetite and is cannibalistic, feeding almost entirely on other fish. Its appetite is apparently a limiting factor on its numbers. Because it requires such a large amount of food, the average lake suitable for it cannot sustain very many at the same time.

Copy of letter

Grayling, Michigan
April 7, 1939

Mr. T. P. Peterson
Dr. C. R. Keyport,
Citizens' Committee;

Since the Michigan Public Service Company has withdrawn suit against the City, I feel it is only fair that I should make clear my stand on the issue, and give the facts which have been so grossly exaggerated with regard to my stock in the Company.

That I own a large block of stock is preposterous, in the face of my small business. True I own a few shares of Michigan Public Service stock, but there are others in Grayling who also own stock.

There seems to be some misunderstanding in regard to my opposition to the Municipal light plant. I happen to be one of the 155 who could not see the benefit of two light companies in a town of this size, and I still have not been convinced that bonding the town for that much is a step forward.

If I believed a Municipal Plant would be a paying investment, I would be in favor of the change. However, I do not yet believe the small majority the election showed expressed so emphatically the will of the people. If all the citizens who still claim to oppose the step had voted, I believe the result would have been different.

I had my convictions and stood by them, and which I believe is the right of every American citizen.

Jappe F. Smith.

In the Editor's mail this morning was an unsigned postal card. Those sending us communication, why should we sponsor that they are duly signed. This one was interesting but if the writer doesn't care to sign his name, why should we sponsor it? It went to the waste basket.

We noticed the spring-like week end brought one trailer-house to Grayling, however the occupants hesitated at the entrance of the city tourist park as there was still heavy snow under the trees and lower places were covered with water. The resort seekers no doubt had planned to spend a day in the open, but found they were a bit too early.

Notice to the Public

The Board of Review of the City of Grayling will meet at the City Office on Monday and Tuesday, April 17 and April 18.
Geo. A. Granger,
City Clerk.

Home Economics Extension Notes

Group No. 5

Owing to sickness, no reports have been given of the last three meetings of Group 5. The January meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Nyland Houghton, and Mrs. Wm. Heric gave the lesson on curtaining windows. The hostess served a very nice lunch.

The February meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Clayton McDonnell, and the lesson given by Mrs. Bernard Brady on re-finishing furniture.

The March meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Bernard Brady and the hostess, who is the leader, gave a very interesting lesson on "Making slip covers." Samples of materials were shown with prices. The Group appreciates very much Mrs. Brady's interest.

Mrs. James McDonnell.

Mrs. Ed. Chalker was hostess for the Home Extension Club, Group II. The leaders, Mrs. Earl Broadbent and Mrs. Middle LaMotte, presented the lesson on making slip covers. Mrs. Stanley Chappel was a guest. A luncheon was served by a committee of four.

Contrary to all instructions issued in newspapers, magazines, and other publications, pedestrians still walk along the right-hand side of the highway.

Womans Club

The Womans Club met Monday evening with Mrs. Ernest Hoesli.

Following the business session the ladies were intensely interested in a book review "We too are the People" by Mrs. Louise V. Armstrong, Manistee, Mich. Mrs. Esbern Olson gave the review in a very delightful manner.

Friday evening the club is sponsoring the talk "The Colorado River Expedition," given by Dr. Elzada Clover, at the high school auditorium at 8 o'clock. The talk is illustrated and is free to the public.

Everyone is too prone to blame the auto driver when we as pedestrians could exercise more care at crossings and on our highways.

All calls answered quickly, any hour of the day or night.

Would You Close Lake Margrethe To Fishing?

JACK REDHEAD SAYS YES; BASIL BLAINE, NO.

Read Their Answers And Then Vote

(By Redhead)

Since those directly concerned have found it necessary to close Houghton lake to winter fishing because of the terrific drain upon the fish life, the question has been raised as to the advisability of taking similar action to protect smaller lakes from possible depletion by the hordes of winter fishing enthusiasts who will have to look for new locations since they have been barred from Houghton.

It is common knowledge that literally thousands of people have fished this lake in winter as well as in summer, and it is appalling to contemplate the number of fish taken, and the damaging effect it has had. Surely the devastation must have been complete, else the drastic action would not have been necessary.

Now when we stop to consider that Houghton has the largest area of any lake in the lower peninsula, and in spite of this fact it has been necessary to ban winter fishing, it does not take an exceptionally fertile imagination to realize what will happen to lakes of much smaller area when this devastating army of despoilers descends upon them. Evidently the cry of alarm has been sounded in the vicinity of Higgins lake for a movement is afoot to close that lake also to winter fishing.

We, here in Crawford county, will do well to read the handwriting on the wall, and do some high-powered thinking about what will take place on our lakes next winter. Are we to refuse to profit by others' experience, and awake to find the barn door open and the horse stolen, or will we take time by the forelock and preserve and protect our well-stocked lakes for posterity, and an important summer tourist attraction. Surely it does not take nimble wits to realize that no lake or stream can stand incessant fishing (as witness the depletion of Houghton) so if we are to have good fishing to lure the summer tourist, some serious thought should be given the subject of protecting what we have.

Assuming that Higgins lake will be closed to winter fishing, the next attractive and accessible lake would be our own Lake Margrethe to which this horde of winter fishermen would flock, and certain destruction would be the inevitable result.

The question with which we are faced is, what to do about it. Naturally, if the lake is closed to outside fishermen, local residents will also be out in the cold and there are a lot of us who enjoy the winter fishing, however, wouldn't it be much better in the long run if we gave Lake Margrethe the breaks in the winter so we could have good fishing in the summer.

At a recent meeting of the local Chapter of the Izaak Walton League this question was raised for discussion and a vote taken to sound out the sentiments of those present. The vote showed about seventy per cent in favor of some form of restriction as a precautionary measure. Both sides, of course, have good sustaining arguments, so it was decided to conduct a poll to determine how the majority feel about the situation. The League pointed out the fact that while they would conduct the poll, it will be with the understanding that until the majority have indicated their desires, the League would be non-partisan. If, later on, the majority decided to take any action, the League would volunteer its report.

Everyone is urgently requested to vote on this issue, and for your convenience a ballot is published elsewhere in this paper.

When voting on this, forget if possible your selfish interests or desires as a fisherman. The vote is to determine what the majority think is best for the future fishing conditions of Lake Margrethe, and whether we want a repetition of the sad experience of Houghton.

We now have a well-stocked lake which means dollars and cents to us as a summer tourist attraction. Its potential earning capacity as such will continue only as long as it remains well-stocked, therefore, vote for restriction of winter fishing. Then your kid and my kid will have a place where they can catch a fish, and can earn a quarter on the side by digging a can of bait for some tourist who fishes that way.

Jack Redhead.

TOURISTS AND FISH

(By Blaine)

The recent interest in the possibilities of closing Lake Margrethe to winter fishing has brought out opinions on the subject from all sides. Since Houghton lake has been closed, there is a fear that the fishermen who populated that lake will move in a body to Lake Margrethe and remove enough fish during the winter to kill the summer fishing which in turn would kill the tourist interest in the lake. This, I maintain, is impossible.

First: the majority of the fishermen on Houghton lake during the past winter were fishing for bluegills and reducing the number of this species to an alarming degree. This was the reason the lake was closed. Should these fishermen hope to find blue gill fishing in Lake Margrethe, they would be bitterly disappointed as any of the local men will testify. And, since there are numbers of lakes throughout the state which offer better winter blue gill fishing than Lake Margrethe, these fishermen from Houghton lake would be distributed widely.

The pike fishermen might come to Lake Margrethe and catch a number of these fish. This would improve the summer fishing for bass and pan fish, for it is well established that pike consume large numbers of other fish. The planting of fry and fingerlings is a useless gesture in lakes with a large pike population.

Second: why should we object to winter tourists? We are trying to establish Grayling as a Winter Sports center and ice fishing is quite a winter sport as many of us know.

Third: wise conservation is wise use of natural resources. We cannot overlook the fact that many of our citizens fish in the winter when they don't have time to do it in the summer, and the fish caught during the slack time furnish a valuable addition

Distribution of the third quarterly installment is now being made to those libraries which have sent in the necessary data regarding their receipts from local tax sources during the first half of the fiscal year. General Grant was never known to have burst out with any honest-to-goodness cuss words, despite the occasions when he must have felt like doing so. LANDMARK MAP FOR FAIR VISITORS

The above landmark map of Manhattan shows principal points of interest, automotive, subway and railway routes to the New York World's Fair, and the locations of nine great

Y.M.C.A. centers which are offering Fair visitors the most complete service the organization has ever made available to visitors to any fair or exposition anywhere in the world.

Spread out over Manhattan for the use of visitors to the New York World's Fair will be eight great Y.M.C.A. buildings with a ninth, a specially constructed service building in the very heart of the Fair grounds, all cooperating to offer the most complete non-commercial service ever attempted by the Y.M.C.A. Each of the buildings involved will be near at least one automotive route and one subway line going directly to the Fair. They are shown on the above map as: (1) William Sloane House, 356 West 34th St., the headquarters of the Y.M.C.A. World's Fair Service and the clearing house for all visitors who use the organization's facilities; (2) Seamen's House, 550

West 20th St., especially designed to care for seamen; (3) Twenty-Third Street, 215 West 23rd St., historic Branch of the Y.M.C.A. and a fine community center; (4) Boverly, 8 East 3rd St., the credit-relief center of the organization; (5) Grand Central Railroad, 224 East 47th St., especially designed for railroad men; (6) West Side, 5 West 63rd St., the most complete group of Y.M.C.A. units in the World; (7) Harlem, 180 West 135th St., special building for Negroes; (8) Bronx Union, 470 East 161st St., the only Y.M.C.A. Building at the Fair, located less than two blocks from the Trylon and Perisphere and just 60 yards from the Statue of George Washington. It was erected at a cost of $150,000 to give visitors a place to care for seamen; (3) Twenty-Third Street, 215 West 23rd St., historic Branch of the Y.M.C.A. and a fine community center; (4) Boverly, 8 East 3rd St., the credit-relief center of the organization; (5) Grand Central Railroad, 224 East 47th St., especially designed for railroad men; (6) West Side, 5 West 63rd St., the most complete group of Y.M.C.A. units in the World; (7) Harlem, 180 West 135th St., special building for Negroes; (8) Bronx Union, 470 East 161st St., the only Y.M.C.A. Building at the Fair, located less than two blocks from the Trylon and Perisphere and just 60 yards from the Statue of George Washington. It was erected at a cost of Each of the Y.M.C.A. centers co-operating in the Y.M.C.A. World's Fair Service will offer many free services to Fair visitors. Some of these will be travel and sight-seeing information, a room registry which have been inspected and approved by the Y.M.C.A., ample correspondence facilities and many other personal services which will help the visitor see and enjoy both the city and the Fair. An important factor is that the organization will not commercialize on the influx of visitors in any way. The establishment of Y.M.C.A. prices for both food and rooms will not be changed,
